Partnership Promotes Professional Development

The Institutes sign agreement with the AAMGA to promote Online Learning

MALVERN, Pa.—The American Institute for CPCU and Insurance Institute of America (the Institutes) have signed an agreement with the American Association of Managing General Agents (AAMGA) to promote Institutes Online Learning courses to the AAMGA members. The AAMGA will promote the courses through electronic and print media by using a unique association promotional code.

Institutes Online Learning is a new approach to professional development. In this fast-paced and ever-changing industry, people need timely and easy access to technical insurance knowledge that will help them be more productive and perform at a higher level.

Each Institutes Online Learning course

- Contains the Institutes' trusted accurate and performance-enhancing technical insurance content.
- Delivers learning in smaller, more manageable pieces.
- Can be studied in just a matter of hours.
- Offers trusted Institute content without having to commit to a full designation program.

AAMGA members can purchase the Institutes online courses by visiting the AAMGA Web site at <http://www.aamga.org>.

Note to Editors: The American Institute for CPCU and Insurance Institute of America are not-for-profit organizations offering knowledge solutions and professional development services to the risk management and property-casualty insurance community. The Institutes offer the CPCU designation program; associate designation programs in areas such as claims, risk management, underwriting, and reinsurance; introductory and foundation programs; and online courses, all of which help drive better decision making to propel business success.

About the American Association of Managing General Agents

The American Association of Managing General Agents (AAMGA) is the wholesale insurance community's international trade association. Founded in 1926 on the principles of integrity and professionalism, the AAMGA today represents over 500 members and is respected as the leader in and voice of the wholesale and excess and surplus lines insurance industry. Membership in the AAMGA is highly selective and, therefore, the managing general agents admitted to the ranks are those who annually subscribe to a Code of Ethics and demonstrate the highest standards of excellence, experience, integrity and insurance company representation. Headquartered in suburban Philadelphia, PA, the non-profit Association and its University Foundation provide substantive benefits and service to its members throughout the year.
