Recognition of Qualifiers Under The Continuing Professional Development Program for CPCUs

Continuing education is a mark of professionalism. To encourage CPCUs to pursue an individual program of continuing education and professional development, The Institutes and the CPCU Society sponsor the Continuing Professional Development Program (CPD).

We are about to recognize the members of the chapter who have achieved this distinction. These members have earned points through a wide range of activities; passing national examinations leading to other designations, passing college or university courses, teaching professional courses, writing articles and books, engaging in research projects, serving in voluntary leadership positions in insurance organizations, and participating in local or regional seminars and workshops, including CPCU chapter meetings.

We salute these CPCUs for concretely demonstrating their belief that professionalism is not something one attains, but rather something one pursues continuously. We encourage them to reaffirm their commitment every two years and hope that those who have not yet qualified will join them in the future.

If the names are listed in the program or on separate sheets, this should be pointed out to the audience.

(If names are to be read)	(If names are not to be read)
And now, as your names are read, please stand and be recognized as professionals who have qualified under the Continuing Professional Development Program.	And now, will all those who have qualified under the Continuing Professional Development Program please rise and be recognized.

Ladies and gentlemen, please join me in congratulating these CPCUs.
